

What is a hobby that you are interested in?

(This can be something that you already like to do, something you would eventually like to do, or something that interests you, but you have no interest in taking part in.)

When were you introduced to this hobby? What about the hobby intrigues you?

What is a skill that you would like to master? What about this skill interests you?

What do you like to do to boost your confidence when you're feeling down?

When receiving gifts, would you rather receive something tangible or an experience?

Why would you choose that?

What have been some of your favorite/most memorable gifts you've ever received?

If you were to be given a test on a specific subject matter right now, that you would 100% ace, what would the test be about?

How did you come to learn about this subject?
